Description
In the current flow only the retry counter is decrease in case the PIN was entered wrong for the first time. I think we should add an additional line of text to tell the user that the entered PIN was wrong.

The attached image shows the dialog after one failed PIN entry attempt. It is the same as the initial dialog except that the retry counter is reduced by one.

Where shall such a message be placed and should it be visible all the time, or just after a failed PIN entry attempt?
